

FIFA 2010: Leadership Styles

Isabel Villamor

IESE
Business School
University of Navarra

What is the study of organizational behavior?

The psychology of individuals, the dynamics of teams, and the structure of organizations (including their effect on how people in organizations act)

10. Leading Global Teams: Greg James
9. Leadership in an AI-enabled Context
8. Leading in an Uncertain World: YouTube
7. Conflict and Collaboration (Exercise)
6. Leading Teams: Bob Knowlton
5. Leadership Styles: FIFA 2010

4. Well-being & Happiness (Lecture)
3. Stress Management: Lucía Gómez
2. Motivation: Fernando Ruiz
1. Introduction: Hausser Foods

Gather with your team and imagine you are casting votes to select the Best Coach of the Year.
Who would be your choice?

Be prepared to defend your answer!

sport 3
LIVE
AhMeD9

Leadership Types

Transcendental Leadership

- The relationship involves economic, professional & personal influence
- The collaborator interacts with the leader due to extrinsic, intrinsic & transcendental motivation
- Medium & long term
- Focus on values

Transformational Leadership

- The relationship involves economic & professional influence
- The collaborator interacts with the leader due to extrinsic & intrinsic motivation
- Short and medium term
- Focus on goals

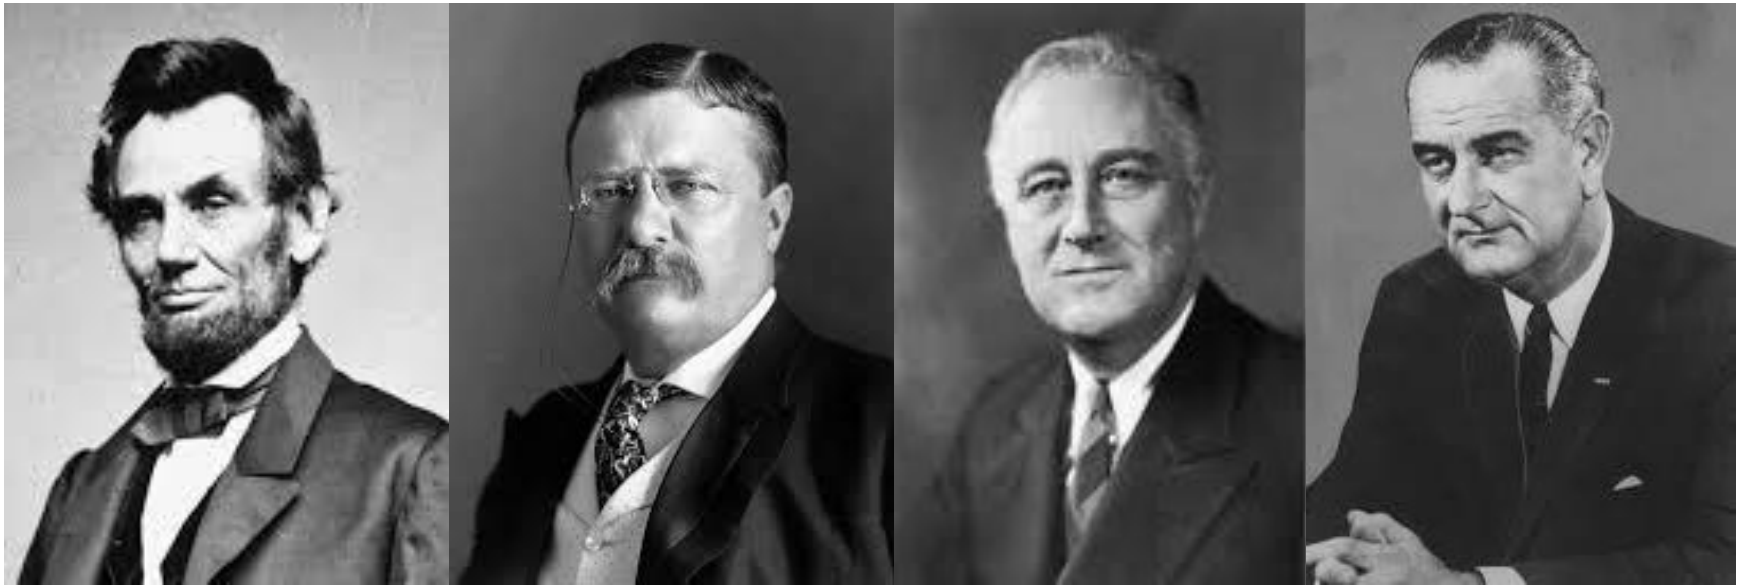

Transactional Leadership

- The relationship involves economic influence
- The collaborator interacts with the leader due to extrinsic motivation
- Short term
- Focus on objectives

Leadership Types

Manager	Type of leadership	Arguments
José Mourinho 	Transactional	• He has shown that, unlike anyone else, he knows how to read the players' minds and give them the incentives they need to guarantee the result in the short-term. • He is worried, more than anything else, about the players playing to win. • Has a mastery of short-term tactics • Demanding and conflictive.
Pep Guardiola 	Transformative	• He is very good at motivating the players and maintaining a balance between incentives and making demands. • He is worried about the players learning a type of game that makes them improve technically and tactically. • Short and mid-term focus.
Vicente Del Bosque 	Transcendental	• He has demonstrated an ability to give in on the minor issues and demand on the important ones. • He is worried that the players are motivated and that there is a good atmosphere in the team. • He particularly values the unity in the team and the associated values such as respect and collaboration. • Focus on mid and long-term.

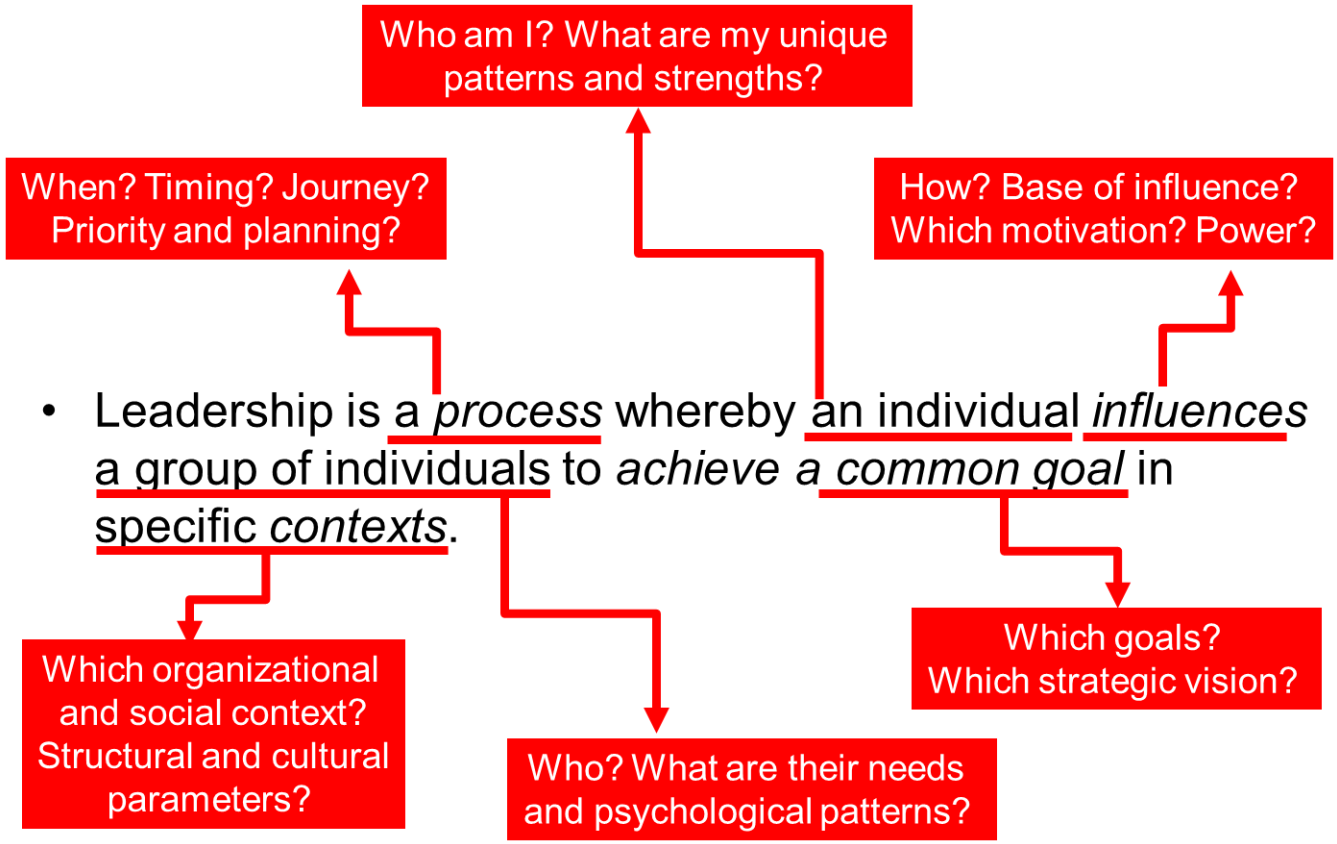

So… are leaders BORN or MADE?

What is leadership?

a process whereby an individual influences a group to achieve a common goal

Northouse, 2010

Who am I? What are my unique patterns and strengths?
When? Timing? Journey? Priority and planning?
How? Base of influence? Which motivation? Power?
• Leadership is a process whereby an individual influences a group of individuals to achieve a common goal in specific contexts.
Which organizational and social context? Structural and cultural parameters?
Who? What are their needs and psychological patterns?
Which goals? Which strategic vision?

The leader you want to become

LOOK BACK

Think about a leader you admire…

Write their name down

What did this person actually do?

LOOK FORWARD

Which of those leadership behaviours do you want to practise?

IESE
Business School
University of Navarra
A Way to Learn
A Mark to Make
A World to Change

And YOU?

- Past: Think about the leader who has impacted you the most. What type of leadership style did this leader embrace?

- Present: As you develop your own leadership style, what type of leader do you aspire to become?

- Future: Reflecting on your next career step, what kind of leader would you like to have to guide you?